Paul Tremaine Engaged for Prom

Nationally Known Band to Play For Annual Affair at Shoreham Ballroom on Friday, March 18

All Features Which Have Helped Make Past Dances a Success Will be in Evidence at High Light Of Social Season

Paul Tremaine and his 15 piece "Lonely Acres" orchestra have been engaged to play at the most colorful social event of the season at George Washington, the Interfraternity Prom, which will be held in the ballroom of the New Shoreham Hotel on Friday night, March 18.

This band, under Tremaine's leadership, probably first became known during its sojourn at Young's Restaurant in New York City, from which place it broadcast daily programs of dance music over the Columbia network. The group is located at Lonely Acres at present, and is repeatedly on the air. It is the first time in several years that the social committee has secured outside talent to play for the Interfraternity Prom, and it is expected that this feature attraction, a Victor recording unit, by the way, will add greatly to the success of the function. Tickets will be ready for distribution within the week, and will be handled by the Council delegate of each fraternity. Sigma Mu Sigma, newest member of the Council, will be represented officially for the first time. "Wandering Greeks" will be allotted a separate box, as in the past, as will professional groups desiring representation.

The Shoreham will be the scene of festivities this year, a departure from a long established custom, and will provide a modernistic setting for the dancing couples. The grand march, led by the officers and members of the Interfraternity Council, will be a feature of the evening.

The cups won in interfraternity competition during the past year will be awarded during intermission to the successful chapters, and the evening will be brought to a climax with the appearance of the Razzberry, the scandal sheet published annually by Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity.

Phi Mu Privileges Denied by Council

Violation of Rules Causes Suspension for Remainder of School Year

At the last regular meeting of the Student Council of George Washington the following resolution was adopted: January 20, 1932.

WHEREAS, the Beta Alpha chapter of the Phi Mu social sorority of George Washington University has twice, once in October of 1931 and again in January of 1932, knowingly broken the rules and regulations set down by the Student Council of the George Washington University for the successful operation of the Social Calendar at the said University;

BE IT RESOLVED, on this Twentieth Day of January in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-two by the Student Council of the aforesaid George Washington University; that all social privileges heretofore accorded to the Beta Alpha chapter of the Phi Mu as a social sorority upon the campus of the George Washington University shall be suspended for the remainder of the present school year of 1931-1932.

Adopted the twentieth day of January in the Year of Our Lord, nineteen hundred and thirty-two by the Student Council of the George Washington University.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY.

Lutherans Continue Group Discussions

New Religious Series Will Be Opened by Paul Myers February 7

Paul Myers, Washington attorney, will open a series of discussion on the subject, "The Place of Religion in the Modern World." The discussions will begin on Sunday, February 7, at 4 p. m., in Building J-24.

This will be the fourth group of discussions conducted during the school year by the George Washington University Lutheran Club. In October the Reverend Gerhard Lenski, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church, led several discussions on the subject of "Christianity and the World." During November, Professor Raymond Seeger, of the University Physics department, led discussions on the subject, "Science and Religion."

On Tuesday, February 9, the G. W. Lutheran Club will hold its monthly meeting in the Luther Place Memorial Church at 8 p. m. The Reverend Henry Manken, jr., pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Incarnation, will be the guest speaker.

Westminster College Fills Vacancy on 1932 Schedule

With the contracting of Westminster College, of New Wilmington, Pa., for a game here on October 1, the schedule for the George Washington Bi-Centennial football season has been completed. The schedule lists five inter-sectional battles, four of which will take place here, and four other games, three of which will be played in Washington.

The addition of Westminster fills out one of the best schedules which George Washington fans have had the pleasure of seeing in many years. Last season's record of five wins, two losses and a tie should give some idea of what the Colonials will do in the coming season.

Masonic Fraternity Elected to Council

Chapter of Sigma Mu Sigma Admitted to Interfraternity Organization

Epsilon chapter of Sigma Mu Sigma, national Masonic fraternity, was elected to membership in the George Washington University Interfraternity Council at the meeting of that organization held at the Theta Delta Chi house Sunday morning.

Sigma Mu Sigma was organized at the State College of Washington, Friday, 1921. Epsilon chapter was installed at George Washington in 1925, and at present consists of twenty-two active members. The officers are: President, Edmund Kamm; vice president, Wilbur E. Kaufman; treasurer, Dama A. Jessup; secretary, Moody Hull; associate, James Johnson; assistant, Everett Rosenberg.

The chapter stood second in scholarship ranking in the University last year.

An amendment to the Constitution was passed providing for a division of the Council into two groups, each of which will have the power to elect officers on alternate years. The Council feels that this action will eliminate the old political lineup, and will inspire a new spirit of confidence and cooperation among its members.

To settle the question regarding eligibility of varsity men for places on interfraternity teams, the Council passed a motion providing that no man on a varsity team may compete in an interfraternity game of the same sport during the same season.

Interfraternity bowling is scheduled to start Saturday night, February 13, at the Columbia Alleys, Fourteenth and Monroe Street, N. W. The series will continue every Saturday night thereafter for 5 weeks.

Alpha Eta Epsilon Honors Prominent Dramatic Students

Newly Founded Honorary Fraternity Initiates Eight Into Membership

Alpha Eta Epsilon, honorary dramatics fraternity, organized on the George Washington campus last spring, held its first initiation ceremony at the Hay-Adams House Thursday evening, January 14. Eight men and women, outstanding in the several dramatic groups at the University, were conducted through the ritual. They are Carolyn Brasch, Joe Danzansky, Samuel Detwiler, Jr., Ada Green, Ruth Moynihan, Christine Spigul, Grant Van Demark, and Mary Wheelchel.

Immediately following the ceremony the founders of the chapter entertained the new initiates at a banquet. Professor Anna Pearl Cooper, who has headed the music committee since her affiliation with the University, and Miss Constance Brown, of the dramatics department, were guests of

Cherry Tree Sets Deadline for Photos

More Pictures of Seniors Taken This Year Than Ever Before

Saturday, February 20, at 10 p. m., is the "deadline" for photographs for the 1932 Cherry Tree, which will go to press March 1, according to Gerald Free, photographic manager, and Wendell Bain, business manager of this year's annual.

With more seniors photographed than have ever appeared in the annual before there is no doubt that the 1932 Cherry Tree will be a complete and compact record of the school year presented in an unique and attractive manner.

In order to accommodate those who have so far been unable to have their photographs taken, special arrangements have been made with the Casson Studio, 907 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., to extend the time limit on photography until February 20, which will be the absolute deadline. Beginning

Professors' Preferences Are Probed In Ambitious Reporter's Investigation

Results Reveal That Final Choice of Questionless Essay, Psychological or Short Answer Type of Tests Varies with Individuals

The old or the new, the tube or the jar, the short answer test or the essay type test.

This question of types of examinations has always been interesting and now that mid-term exams are drawing near ("Aw, lay off, will ya?") it becomes pertinent, very pertinent indeed. Consequently, we decided to take a poll of professors' preference to find out which type will prevail from January 28 to February 3.

Here 'tis:
Henry Gratian Doyle, professor of Romance Languages: "In the advanced courses that I teach I prefer the essay type of examination for an expression of critical appreciation, but there is no reason for not using the other type in elementary work."

Fred A. Moss, professor of Psychology, and Lowell J. Ragatz, associate professor of History (as expressed by Professor Ragatz): "The psychological type (short answer) tells us what we want to know—whether the student knows his stuff or not. No other type of examination does that."

William Allen Wilbur, professor of English: "Each teacher has, of course, his own theory. I like the questionless type because it teaches students to see the subject as a whole. The short answer type is all right for freshmen, when one wants to find out whether they know the principles taught, but I use the other if I desire a wise discussion."

Charles Sidney Smith, professor of Classical Languages: "I prefer the old-fashioned type. First of all, my subject entails translation. Then, I think it's fair, in an examination in literature, to give the student a general subject to discuss rather than questions on details which he may have overlooked in his reading. Besides, in the new type there's too much emphasis on the element of chance."

Hiram Colver McNeil, professor of Chemistry: "I've tried all types of examinations and all types are equally satisfactory and equally unsatisfactory. I would like to give an examination to which the students brought their books and notes with which to work out problems. They'd kick terribly after the grades came back—but it would eliminate cheating."

George Morton Churchill, professor of History: "Between the short answer and the essay types I prefer—both. The first tells me what facts the students know and the second gives them a chance to show that they have thought about the subject."

Now you know . . . what?

Buff And Blue Basketers Maintain Perfect Record In Week's Games Against Chicagoans And Duquesne

Buff and Blue Five Scores 48-27 Decision Against Pittsburghers

Playing at a pace that spelled disaster for a previously unbeaten Duquesne five, the Buff and Blue quint rang up its sixth straight victory in as many starts with a telling score of 48-27 in the Gym last Thursday night.

With the crowds literally bulging the walls and hundreds unable to gain admittance, the Colonials put on an offense that showed the spectators a brand of basketball that marks the team as one of the best in the East.

Parrack and Zahn led the local attack with 12 and 11 points. The team as a whole played the best basketball seen in the George Washington Gym.

The Dukes got off to a start with McDougall dropping one through the net and shortly thereafter McGeever scored from the double line. Feldman for the opponents made good on a foul shot to put the Pittsburghers in front with a five-point lead in the first few minutes of play.

Get Into Action

The Colonials opened their offensive then, with Burgess making a charity shot and putting one in from the sidelines. Zahn, following up, tossed an overhead one in the basket to even the score. McDougall star for the Buff and Blue, came up to the side to drop in another two-pointer. Parrack, who had not been able to find the basket up to this time, came to the fore with a long shot and then dropped another in from

Capitalism Chosen As Debate Subject By Women's Team

Schedule Includes Ohio Wesleyan, Pittsburgh, Swarthmore, New York, Boston, Trinity

The George Washington University Women's Debate Team has taken for its general subject this year the question, "Resolved: That socialism is preferable to capitalism as a system of economic organization." The debates on this question, or some variant of this particular phrasing, promise to be highly interesting. According to its schedule for the season, the team will meet a number of representatives from other colleges and universities.

Opponents will be Ohio Wesleyan, Pittsburgh, Swarthmore, New York University, Boston University, Western State Teacher's College, and Trinity College. Some of the matches will be in Washington, while the remainder will take place at the other institutions.

At a meeting held January 18, at the Phi Alpha house, Joseph Danzansky was elected president of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity. Other officers elected were: Robert Harvey, vice president; and J. Burke Drury, secretary-treasurer.

Phi Delta Places Second In Intra-Mural Tournament

Phi Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha bowled for second place in the Women's Intra-Mural bowling tournament Tuesday night, Phi Delta winning by a score of 830-278.

It was announced last week that Phi Delta had conceded second place to Zeta Tau Alpha on the basis of a three-point margin in their scores in games with Kappa Delta, the winner of the tournament. This action was found, however, to be a violation of the Intra-Mural rules governing tournaments, so an extra game had to be played before second place could be awarded.

Colonials Victors in Torrid Setto Over Trojans' Conquerors

The little Gym packed to capacity with frantic fans clamoring for victory, George Washington's basketball quint continued its march to an undefeated season by trouncing De Paul University of Chicago last night, 35-28.

Conqueror of Southern California and Notre Dame, De Paul had suffered but one defeat prior to the game with the Colonials, and came out of the west to brush aside Catholic University's highly touted quint, seemingly without effort, at the Brookland gym Saturday.

Few fans have had an opportunity to witness the type of basketball exhibited by this Windy City aggregation which played a cyclonic short passing game. This and the colorful style of Pizlee's five, combined to make the contest the most thrilling ever witnessed at the University.

A basket by De Paul put the visitors in front in the first two minutes. George Washington came back with a free toss, and then a field goal to put the locals ahead, but De Paul knotted the count with a single counter. After another free toss by G. W., Zahn, captain, made a beautiful catch of a pass and, while falling, flipped the ball through the cords to make the score 6-4. "Zahn and Co." maintained their lead with extreme difficulty, each team scoring several times, and until just before the whistle for the half, when De Paul jumped ahead with a basket, leaving the count 12-12 at the intermission in favor of the Chicagoans.

Pizlee must have instilled new spirit and confidence into his men during the rest period, for they started the second half with a rush, scoring the first basket to regain the lead. The visitors, held scoreless the first five minutes of the half, never again found their way to the top, although Garsky threw a scare into the home rooters when he scored four straight goals from every section of the floor to make the score 31-28 with three and a half minutes to go. But everyone was put at ease again when the Colonials came back again with two double markers just before the final whistle.

Parrack was leading individual scorer, accounting for 12 of George Washington's 35 points. Burgess ran him a close second with 9 points. Zahn and Chambers played a beautiful game at guard, accounting for 7 and 6 points.

Marvin Discusses Bicentennial Plans

President Is Speaker at Luncheon of 550 Panhellenic Women, Saturday

"Washington's character will be the soul of that movement," declared President Cloyd Heck Marvin, discussing the part which the United States must play in the movement for the democratization of the world, and more particularly of the spiritual influence of George Washington in the world today, in speaking to the five hundred and fifty fraternity women at the Panhellenic Luncheon held at the Mayflower Hotel, Saturday, January 23.

Mrs. Vernon Kellogg, prominent authoress and member of Gamma Phi Beta, who introduced President Marvin, stressed the point that this city, as the focal point of the nation, should take a leading part in panhellenic affairs.

The Committee on Permanent Organization, through its chairman, Mrs. C. M. Janeky, Alpha Gamma Delta, announced that a constitution for a Panhellenic Association of the District of Columbia would be submitted within sixty days to each national Panhellenic sorority in this city. The purpose of such an association would be, first, to promote acquaintance and fellowship among alumnae and active fraternity women, and second, to assist in local fraternity matters.

Patience

Give us varsity teams which are truly representative, worthy of upholding the name of George Washington, and the student body will support them wholeheartedly. This has been the opinion voiced by many sports followers of the University in the past few years. That it seems to have a reasonable foundation is indicated by the interest evidenced in our 1931 grid team, and more recently in the group of men representing us on the basketball court this season. The poor little "H Street Tabernacle" has proven entirely inadequate to accommodate enthusiastic fans. Only a comparatively small percentage of the student body can be taken care of, and must suffer much inconvenience because of overcrowded conditions. Much criticism has arisen over this fact.

At the same time local papers are carrying comment on the rumor that George Washington is in danger of losing certain football opponents scheduled to appear in Washington next fall because of the fact we have no stadium or facilities of any kind.

These rumors are unfounded, but it is true that there is a deplorable lack of athletic equipment, and we can only suggest that it takes time to fulfill all physical requirements. If students will maintain their faith in the administration some way will be found to meet the heavier demands of first class talent to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Hope

The Interfraternity Council, after years of mere existence under an entirely inadequate, unfair constitution, has at last taken steps toward the elimination of old political line-ups, which inspired nothing but poor spirit, if any at all, and resulted in absolute lack of cooperation between the groups involved.

An amendment to the constitution has been passed which it is hoped will provide for an equitable system of electing officers. A twelfth group has been added to the Council, making possible division of the members into two balanced groups, which will alternate in nominating officers for election, thus giving everyone an opportunity to participate in the government of the body. Under the old system the majority rotated offices within its group, and the minority party had no part in elections.

Under the new plan, it is explained that there will be no appointments to offices or committee chairmanships except upon merit, the person best fitted for the job receiving the honor, and this should result in a smooth running schedule of every activity conducted by the Council.

It remains to be seen how the system will work out in practice.

Enforcement?

Do we have a social calendar, and regulations governing the registration of all events to be scheduled by any organization on the campus? We do, but some groups apparently know nothing of their existence, which is inexcusable. It is a regrettable fact that the Student Council was required to take the action decided upon at its last meeting, prohibiting all social functions by a certain sorority, but it is necessary that each group be held strictly accountable for the observance of all legislation passed if there is to be any, and the resolution of the Council is a commendable feature of its new program. This is the first action along these lines taken by the Council, and may be considered as a warning to all that its intentions are actually serious and its requirements must be met.

CHIPS

Dear Rollo and his 6,000 odd readers (not including Henry Goddard Roberts) are sure down in the mouth this week, what with finals staring us in the face, and the dreaded void just before pay day to tie us down. It means "standing room only" in the Library, and rumor has it that our football men have turned scalpers, auctioning off deck-side seats to highest bidders.

In conformity with its program of expansion for pledges, (bigger, better, and older) we might suggest Santa Claus as a prospect for Sigma Chi.

Speaking of oddities—one of the social events planned in the near future is a skating party at Lincoln Memorial. No! they won't have to freeze the pond—it's a roller skating party.

The trend is still toward the unusual, with Paul Tremaine and his Lonely Acres band going into rehearsals for his celebrated appearance at the Interfraternity Prom. We hope they won't celebrate during their appearance, as a certain band did at the last Prom. Girls, don't delay—start oiling up the boy friend—or if you don't have one, hook up now—and if you do have one—hold tight!

You've heard about the eight-day movement? The Troubadour chorines could have learned a few fine points from that little bitay tootie roll with Duke Ellington.

Boy—did the local press scribes take it on the chin last week, with the Colonials flooring the Dukes after Georgetown and Catholic had pulled Jack Sharkey's against the same outfit.

Sigma Mu Sigma makes the Interfraternity Council! A new enlightened era is hailed by the delegates—"no more politics" sing the aspiring Platos. All elections on the "up and up" (special permission of Beattie), and who will hold office next year?

No parking on the west side of Twenty-second Street at any time, dictate the "Bulls." Registration fees next semester will be boosted two bucks and include the right to stow your bus in Possum Pixie's Pigny Parking Parlor.

And what will poor Phi Mu do for entertainment? In startling and enlightening (?) legal phraseology, Messrs. Jackson and Rinehart perform their first valuable service in the professional field. At last the Student Council has found a reason for existence!

Looks like us men must follow the lead of the Interfraternity Council, and secure "outside talent" if we expect dates this week-end, what with the general exodus of co-eds to Annapolis, and a few "B" seekers actually spending Friday and Saturday studying.

Have you heard the latest? Ye editor's office has been turned into an up-to-date social bureau. Advice to the lovelorn—dates for the love-worm—experience to the new-born (Council).

Rollo survives mid-winter pruning of Hatchet staff, and is even promoted! If you don't believe, see mast-head. Dick Rollo.

Three Phi Sig, Two Sigma Nu Stars Gain Places on Mythical Greek Quint

Weigel, Waller, Noonan, Shirley, and Woodward Compose First Team; Representatives of Three Fraternities Make Second Quint

All-Interfraternity Basketball Team

First Team	Position	Second Team
Weigel (P. S. K.)	Forward	Taylor (T. U. O.)
Waller (Sigma Nu)	Forward	Terry (S. P. E.)
Noonan (P. S. K.)	Center	Wickham (S. P. E.)
Shirley (P. S. K.)	Guard	Newland (T. U. O.)
Woodward (Sigma Nu)	Guard	White (Sigma Nu)

By JOHN EVERETT

Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Nu predominate the All-Interfraternity Basketball Team, with the former placing three men on the mythical quint and the latter two. The only repeater from last year's all-star team is Billy Woodward, sterling Sigma Nu guard. The standard of play in the series just completed was much higher than in previous years, making it harder to decide upon a real all-interfraternity quint.

Two S. P. E. along with two T. U. O. players and a Sigma Nu, were picked for second team honors. In several cases the margin separating members of the first team from those on the second five was so small that an interchange of players would not weaken the first team perceptibly.

The fact that their opponents could score but 66 points while they were chalking up 110 markers, stamped the Sigma Nu quint as the best defensive team in the series. In games with Kappa Sig and K. A., the fast-stepping runners-up held their rivals scoreless for the first half. The Phi Sigs had little difficulty in winning league honors and continued on to capture the championship.

Waller Good on Defense

The competition for the forward position was keen throughout, with Phil Waller and Henry Weigel showing the way to the numerous other sharpshooters. Probably the best defensive forward in the series was little Henry Weigel, whose spirited play stood out particularly in the Phi Sig-Sigma Nu game, when he guarded the clever Billy Woodward and allowed him only one basket the entire evening.

Phil Waller gets the call over Terry, S. P. E. forward, in that he was better defensively than his rival as well as being equally as good in making baskets. Taylor, T. U. O., was not far behind and proved a capable player. Both "Wick" Parreck and "Ty" Hertler, S. P. E. giants, were not considered in view of the fact that they were disqualified by the Interfraternity Council because of activity with the varsity team.

Competition for the tap-off position was unusually keen. Both Bill Noonan, former Eastern High School luminary, and "Ox" Wickham were outstanding defensive men. Noonan's superior shooting ability, however, places him on the mythical five, while his average of 11 points per game gives him high scoring honors. "Granny" Allen, Sigma Nu pivot man, is not far behind Wickham in ability.

Woodward and Shirley are essentially much alike in the type of game each one plays. Both were leaders of their teams and could direct unerringly. Woodward's shooting, coupled with his extensive knowledge of the game, places him far above the average guard. Any team with two such guards as Woodward and Shirley, would be a dangerous outfit.

Colonial Courtmen Oppose Lynchburg Saturday In Gym

Game Listed for Saturday Night; Team to Journey for Next Contests

The Colonial varsity basketballers will see action but once prior to the termination of the examination period, in a game with Lynchburg College of Virginia, Saturday night, at 8 p. m., in the George Washington Gymnasium.

During the vacation period Pizlee's cohorts will make their first real journey of the season, a three-day invasion of Virginia. On this trip they will battle William and Mary College at Williamsburg, February 4, and then will go to Richmond where they will meet Virginia Medical College and the University of Richmond February 5 and 6, respectively.

The Buff and Blue should have little trouble in defeating the Lynchburg quint, although the visitors will put up a spirited fight, judging from past performances.

The Hornets have succeeded in winning but three of seven games, largely due to poor shooting, which if more accurate might have turned at least three defeats into victories. Coach Talman, however, has been drilling his men on this fault, and improvement has been noticeable in recent games. The mainstays of the squad have been George Weibel, flashy little forward, the Hornets' leading scorer, and Hurt, rangy center.

Of the opponents to be met on the trip away, the University of Richmond seems to be the only one offering serious opposition. Virginia Medical College was easily defeated last year, and the medics have not set the world afire this season, while William and Mary has been defeated several times. Richmond, however, appears to have a strong quint as it impressively drubbed Lynchburg last week, 38 to 22.

Unless upsets occur the Colonials should enjoy a very successful journey. The probable line-up for Saturday's contest is: Lynchburg, Weibel and Barnum or Johnson, forwards; Hurt, center; Young, captain and guard; and Eberly, guard. George Washington, Farrack and Burgess, forwards; Hertler, center; Zahn and Chambers, guards.

Fraternity Bowlers Will Start Matches

Interfraternity Council Announces Regulations for Competition

Interfraternity bowling will start February 13, and will continue over a period of five weeks, as indicated in the list of rules which have been promulgated and approved by the Interfraternity Council.

The rules are as follows:
1. Games start Saturday night, February 13, at the Columbia Alley, Fourteenth and Monroe Streets N. W. (one block above Park Road).
2. Teams shall consist of five men.
3. Substitutions may be made at the end of games only.
4. The winner of each league shall be determined by the team having the highest percentage of games won. Each round will consist of three games, but match wins or losses will not determine the winner. In event of a tie in games won and lost the team having the largest total pins for the series will be the winner.

5. The first game shall start at 8:20. If teams are not ready to play at 8:30 a penalty of two (2) pins shall be assessed for each minute thereafter until 8:45, when, if team is still not ready, a forfeit for the three games shall be the penalty.
6. Games must be rolled on nights assigned. A schedule is in the G. W. U. Handbook and will appear in The Hatchet.
7. A team using a man who is not registered in the George Washington University shall be ineligible to compete in the series and shall forfeit all games already played in which this man has participated.

8. At the end of each round the Captains or Managers of both teams shall give to the Athletic Chairman a signed score of the games.
9. In event of forfeit the team forfeited to shall notify the Athletic Chairman and shall bow its three games in the presence of a person designated by him.
10. Any question not taken care of in these rules which shall arise shall be decided by the Athletic Committee.

Freshmen Will Play In Six Court Games

Eastern Contest Tonight Outstanding; Western Game Thursday

The George Washington freshmen will take on six teams in the next two weeks, including their game with Devitt on February 8. With a record of seven wins and three defeats behind them the frosh are out to reestablish their winning streak against those teams which furnished defeats in previous games.

Principal among these is the Eastern squad which gave the Cubs their first taste of defeat this season. This fray will take place at Eastern tonight. Western High will be the guests of the freshmen Thursday afternoon. A return game with the Little Generals of Washington-Lee High School will take place in Ballston, February 3, at 8 p. m.

Another return tilt with the Bethesda five will be played at Bethesda, Thursday, February 4, at 7 p. m. A second game with Western will take place here Friday, February 5, at 4 p. m. Devitt will be the next to last team to be met by the Cubs this year and they will play here Monday, February 8.

The Eastern quint, tied in the inter-high series with Tech, will present the most pretentious array of basketballers during the next six games and it is the Cubs' hope that they will take the Easternites into camp. Western, though at the bottom of the inter-high series, will be strengthened by the return of Latona, high point scorer of the inter-high series and an All-High selection.

The Little Generals, who held the frosh in the first half of the previous game, should present no serious difficulty to the freshmen. Bethesda, handily defeated in the first game of the season, will in all probability go down to defeat again. The return game with Western and the Devitt tilt should be taken by the freshmen as they near the end of the season. The Cubs have been practicing in preparation for their coming games.

Varsity Swimmers Elect Rote Captain

Leader Holds Two All-District Records; First Meet February 6

At an election held Wednesday evening, January 20, Max Rote, star swimmer on the Colonial swimming team, was elected captain. Rote is now a sophomore in the Junior College and has been swimming for several years.

He was an outstanding swimmer on the Central High School squad, and while competing as a Colonial freshman last year he set two all-District records in a meet sponsored by the District of Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union. These were made in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle dashes. Rote is a versatile swimmer and competes in both the long and short dashes, as well as in the relay events.

The first competition for the varsity team will be on the evening of February 6, when the Colonial mermen meet Washington and Lee swimmers at the Ambassador Hotel pool. The meet will be open to the public without charge. Washington and Lee is represented by a good team, which is reported to be one of the best in the South, and some close finishes are expected when they meet the Colonials.

There are still some openings on both the freshman and varsity teams, and Coach Lyman requests that qualified candidates report to the Ambassador Hotel pool for practice, on any Monday, Wednesday or Friday evening, at 7 p. m.

The election of a captain for the freshman squad was postponed from Wednesday evening of last week due to insufficient attendance of team members, and it is requested that all swimmers report tomorrow evening in order that the election may be held.

Phi Sig Basketters Win Court Crown In Spirited Battle

Nose Out Sigma Nu, 19-14; Noonan Stars at Center for Winners

In one of the most closely contested of the interfraternity games played this season the Phi Sigma Kappa five emerged the victor in a 19-14 decision over the Sigma Nu quint last Wednesday night in the University Gym. The score was tied at the quarter and at the half with six all and ten all scores respectively. Noonan, center for the Phi Sigs, was the star of the game, piling up 11 points for his team. Woodward, star guard of the Sigma Nu five, was held in check by the clever guarding of Weigel. Munroe, for the victors, was second in scoring and held his man scoreless. Shirley played a fine floor game, directing the winners' attack.

Galloway, playing opposite Noonan, started the scoring with a shot from the sidelines. Noonan, however, tied up the score with a snow bird and Munroe added another two pointer to send the winners into the lead. Galloway sunk another long shot to tie the score again. The lead changed hands several times to be even at the quarter 6-6. The second quarter was nearly a repetition of the first with the score being tied again at the half at 10 all.

The Phi Sigs went into the lead in the third period to maintain it during the rest of the game. Noonan scored twice on long shots to put the winners out in front again. Woodward scored his lone goal on a shot from mid-floor. Munroe dropped in a free throw to give his team a 15-12 lead at the end of the third quarter. Munroe made another field goal and Noonan and Cordova made good on foul tosses to give the victors their four point margin of victory. Allen, high scorer for the Snakes, dropped in the final basket for the Sigma Nu's after a quick pass from Woodward.

Freshman Tossers Take Two Contests

Quint Wins Over Emerson and Gonzaga; Loses to Central Five

Two victories and one defeat marked the conquests of the freshman basketball team in games last week with prep and high school teams of the District. The Little Colonials took easy verdicts from Emerson Institute, 52-20, and Gonzaga High School, 48-16, but were beaten in a return game with Central High School, 30-27, at the Central gym. The freshmen had previously defeated Central, 37-15, in an early season game.

Phi Beta Preferred

A majority of the 546 freshmen at Princeton University prefer a Phi Beta Kappa key to a varsity P; it was found in a questionnaire conducted recently.

Opposite The New Waldorf Astoria

When the Shelton opened (7 years ago) we began catering to college men and women. Gradually their patronage has increased; we feel safe in asserting that more students make the Shelton their New York home than at any club or other hotel. One reason for this is the free recreational features plus a desire to serve on the part of Shelton employees. Room rates have been greatly reduced. $2.50 per day without bath. $3.00 per day with bath. $4.00 per day, double with bath. Lower rates by the month.

Club features (free to guests) are as follows: Swimming pool; completely equipped gymnasium; game rooms for bridge and backgammon; roof garden and solarium. Restaurant and cafeteria service at reasonable prices.

SPORT AXE

By THE SPORTSMAN

A word concerning my comment on the serial that is appearing in this column. Perhaps some will construe the final paragraphs of last week's effort as placing me in the category of one who does not believe in the ideas projected in "The Comparison." If so, that is the wrong construction, as I rather heartily chime with the majority of the author's criticisms; and my comment is merely upon the few points with which I do not agree.

On with the story.
A COMPARISON—Chapter 2
You will find more of the fundamental spirit of sportsmanship in a Causeway hoodlum at a County cricket match at Lord's or the Oval than in three out of five undergraduates at any football game between two American colleges.

Each of this is due to our sports-writers. It is due to hally-hoo. In England, you will still find that in any reputable newspaper the accounts of sporting events are written by men who write English.

My readers may accuse me of Anglo-mania. That will be unjust. I simply think that in England they have a better conception of sports than we do. They do not put a false value upon them. In the majority of international contests between America and England, America wins. That is because the Englishman will not usually pay in terms of training, the price that we are willing to pay for an athletic victory. He doesn't think that such self-torture is fun.

But he goes on rowing, or playing rugby or soccer or cricket, regularly, for ten—on, twenty—years after 95% of our own college players are reduced to golf or bridge.

This episode is rather short, but I fear there can be little adverse criticism.

Paragraph three hurts. It hits our beloved sports pages. I have no fault to find with the emphasis made on athletics in American news sheets. Their "hally-hoo" attitude is essentially a characteristic of the U. S.
